Big Picture Challenge.

What happens at your event?

The activity begins with a short briefing from the event host, who will explain how the challenge works before dividing participants into teams. Each team will then be assigned a section of a larger painting to recreate.

Only a limited number of people from each team will be allowed to view the full artwork. Their task is to communicate what they see clearly and accurately to the rest of their team, who must then paint their section based on those instructions. Throughout the task, teams will also need to consider how their section will connect with the others to ensure the final artwork fits together seamlessly. At the end of the activity, every team's section is brought together to reveal the completed large-scale painting and see how closely it matches the original image.
