What happens at your event?

Begin the activity with a short briefing from your facilitators on how everything will run. After that, everyone taking part will then be split up into smaller teams before receiving their equipment, cameras and props needed for their production.

Each team will have a list of key words that they need to work into their commercial, encouraging teams to think carefully about using effective communication and teamwork skills. Assign roles to individuals based on their strengths and talents like director, stuntman, lead actor and designer.

At the end of the activity, the adverts will be shown to everyone plus a panel of judges, who will decide on which team did the best. Trophies will be then be handed out to the winners!
