Corporate Office Massage.

What happens at your event?

A certified therapist will arrive at your office or venue and set up in a quiet space or room with a specially designed ergonomic massage chair. Once everything is in place, the therapist will call up a team member individually and provide them with a 15 minute session.

Employees will remain fully clothed during the session, making it convenient and comfortable. Each employee will receive a targeted massage focusing on the back, neck, and shoulder areas, easing the tension from those "work-at-desk-all-day" spots.

After their treatment, they'll be refreshed, rejuvenated, and ready to continue their day with enhanced focus and energy. This event is a great way to boost morale and promote well-being within your team.
