What happens at your event?

To start the day off, your activity will begin with a briefing given by your event facilitators explaining how everything will run before they split everyone up into smaller teams.

Once the teams have been formed, each will need to make a short introduction video with cameras provided on the day as a short icebreaker activity. These will then be scored individually out of 10 by your instructors before the main event begins. When it does, teams will get to take part in a host of activities across a variety of categories, which will be scored out of ten by your facilitators.

Once each team has had a chance to take part in each game, the final scores will be totalled up by your facilitators to determine who the overall winning team is.
