What happens at your event?

On the day of your event, your facilitators will begin with a short briefing on how the event will run before they split participants up into smaller teams. From here, each team will be assigned a set of scenes to film, as well as props and equipment which will be used to film and produce your scenes.

Each team will assign roles for the director, camera operators, props department, wardrobe, the star and the extras. Each team will also receive a kit filled with all the equipment necessary to create their scenes. With only one take allowed for each scene, rewinding or re-doing shots will give teams a negative score, so participants will need to communicate and work together effectively for a chance to score the most points.
