What happens at your event?

On the day of your event, you and your team will make your way down to the restaurant venue at a designated time. Here, you'll be met by a member of staff before being shown to the area where you'll be making your pizzas. Each participant will be welcomed with a glass of prosecco each and a few nibbles like garlic bread and dough balls.

You will meet your pizzaiolo chef who will set you up at your pizza making station. Here, you will get to prepare your dough and choose your toppings. After the vital prep work, you'll get to craft your pizzas exactly how you want them before handing them over to the venue's pizzaiola chefs who will cook your pizzas to perfection all while the host directs you to your table where you await your food to finish cooking. The final step is to chat away, and tuck into your delicious pizza creations!
