What happens at your event?

Following an introduction from the event facilitators, teams are briefed on the mysterious death of Dr Black and presented with the evidence gathered from the crime scene. Working together, participants begin examining clues, interviewing suspects and analysing information to build their case.

As the investigation unfolds, teams take part in a range of hands-on forensic activities designed to help uncover the truth. By combining their findings and following the evidence, participants must determine who committed the murder before presenting their conclusions and discovering whether they solved the case correctly.
