Virtual Reindeer Games.

What happens at your event?

The event starts once everyone is connected and ready for the game on Zoom. A two minute video will play, setting the stage and explaining how to play. The game is very simple, with each player having a choice of only three actions. However, deciding how and when to take your actions, coordinating them with your teammates and reacting to what the other teams are doing, affects the outcome of the race and means no two games are ever the same.

After the introduction, the host fields any questions and places everyone into small teams. The game is played over a series of six races, the first race is simplified as an introduction to get everyone up to speed.

Each race starts with a short overview of the track and conditions, then an action phase for about four minutes when teams plan together in their breakout rooms and make their decisions. A live market displayed on everyone's screen shows constantly changing pay-outs of the horses as people take their actions.

After the action phase, the host brings all the teams back into a shared room to watch the race and cheer together. When the race is over the winning teams are announced and a short period of celebration, taunting and groans is quickly followed by the next race and it's back to your breakout rooms to adjust your team strategy and try again.
