Event Overview

Full of fun and creativity, our Wacky Wheels experience is the ideal way to break out of the office for a unique event that encourages lots of ingenuity, collaboration and teamwork throughout the day.

Taking place outdoors, this experience gives participants the opportunity to design, build, test and race their very own wacky wheels contraption against the other teams. Using kits and equipment provided for you on the day, this activity is great to arrange if you're looking for a way to encourage lots of teamwork, communication and friendly competition for your next team building day.

What Happens At Your Event?

The activity will begin with a short briefing on how the day will run before participants are split up into smaller teams. From there, you will have a limited amount of time to design and build your wacky wheels vehicle using the equipment provided for you. At this point, participants are encouraged to use lots of communication, creativity and teamwork skills to bring their carts to life.

Once your cart is built, teams will take part in a series of challenges in order to gain sponsorships for their racing teams. After testing and (eventually) passing your vehicle's MOT, it'll be time to take to the tracks to battle it out in a series of races against the other teams!

With points awarded to the winners of each race, those with the highest points scored by the end of the activity will be crowned the winners of the day in a medals ceremony for first and second place.

What's Included?

- ✓ Experienced event manager to host your event
- ✓ Take part in a series of challenges to gain sponsorship for your racing team
- ✓ Design and create your own car – make sure it passes its MOT!
- ✓ Go head-to-head in a series of wacky races
- ✓ Full risk assessments & £5million public liability insurance
